About Us

Who are we?

Business Marketing students from Kwantlen Polytechnic University - Mark Wilson, Kyle Darvasi, Ravi Sran

What is Canadian Express Grocery?

CEG was developed by the 3 above students for their Marketing Degree Practicum report.

We were tasked to develop an online business – choose a product, find suppliers, and research distribution channels in order to launch a real time online business for 6 weeks.

Our Cause

All profits from this venture are donated to the Kwantlen Polytechnic University Venture Fund. This has been developed to help fund students looking to launch their own business. The fund is designed to assist those in need of financing and promote entrepreneurship and small business ownership within BC.

<http://www.wineaccess.ca/blog/winefed-beef-from-the-okanagan>

"Wine fed beef is the most succulent and tender beef we have ever tasted. People have started telling me that I have ruined them for regular beef. I personally think it sounds like a great trend.

We strictly raise Angus cattle due to their natural marbling qualities. All are free of hormone implants and they are raised in the beautiful Okanagan Valley located in British Columbia, Canada. They enjoy a diet of grass until they reach a desirable size at which point their diet matures. Then they are fed a proprietary blend of grains with a cow sized glass of red BC wine every day until production. A cow sized glass is well over a bottle of wine! Then the beef is aged for 30 - 40 days to achieve maximum flavour.

Sezmu cattle are some of the best-treated cattle in the world. We have large pens that are kept dry, virtually no mud problems at all. Each animal has about 150 sq. feet which is very spacious. The handling of the animals is all low stress and the wine just enhances that. The beef ends up being more tender as there is very little reason to get nervous or stressed.

By the time the beef gets to you it is exceptionally well marbled. It has a very distinct beef flavour, improved colour, and longer shelf life than traditional beef. The wine makes all the difference.

We are currently available in British Columbia but will be expanding to other markets soon. Please look for our Certified Sezmu Beef label to know you are getting authentic Sezmu Beef."
